Advt. No.: NITD/SRCC/SB/AB/EE/2025-26/07/ADV/01/04

Date: 01/10/2026

Project Title: “Grid Readiness for Electrical Vehicle (EV): Enablers and Technological developments (GREET)”

Funding Agency: Collaborative R & D project with IIT Kanpur (Lead Institute), sponsored by Anusandhan National Research Foundation (ANRF)

Duration: Maximum up to 10.06.2028.

Project Summary: This project will assess the impact of large-scale electric vehicle (EV) charging infrastructure on distribution grids, focusing on power quality, operation, and protection. It will develop optimal planning models for EV charging and battery swapping stations by integrating transport patterns, grid constraints, and climate variability. Additionally, it will create algorithms for the optimal scheduling of EV charging and discharging to provide ancillary services, develop advanced power converter control schemes with power factor control to mitigate power quality issues arising from high penetration of EV charging loads while ensuring compliance with grid standards and maintaining system stability and enhance battery life. The outcomes will support coordinated planning, smoother grid operations, efficient integration of renewable energy, contributing to sustainable and resilient EV adoption by developing some software/Packages/Mobile Applications etc.
